Key Definitions

Queen Mother is defined as a traditional female leader who partners with their chiefs to address whole community social issues, especially on women and children's issues (Steegstra, 2009).

Traditional local governance is defined as the authority of a chief or queen mother, by virtue of his or her ancestry, to rule or govern over people over an area.

Where in the world is Sub-Saharan Africa ?

The burden of women and children's health and education

Low achievement of MDGs/SDGs for Health & Education

Disease prevalence – HIV

Insufficient schools & poorly resourced in rural areas

Weak infrastructure and policies

Orphans and vulnerable groups

Research question: How the Queen Mothers or their counterparts in traditional local governance contributed to the health and education of women and children in Sub-Saharan Africa

Selection of Queen Mother

Most women acquired the position of queen mother by virtue of heredity or marriage into a royal family. A queen mother could be the biological parent of a king (although this appears to have been infrequent); a classificatory mother, sister, daughter, or other relative; an in-law; an appointee; an influential member of the community; the wife or sister of a former ruler; or even an outsider (Barnes, 1997).

ROLES & RESPONSIBILITIES

Political Authority/Responsibility

- Queen Mothers or counterparts documented in West, East, and South Africa.
- Authority: Pre-colonial -Tradition, Post-colonial - Constitutions, Laws
- Structure: Kingdoms - Kings, Council of Chiefs
 - Villages - Chiefs, Councils, Queen Mothers (Advisor)
- Responsibilities of Queen Mothers:
 - ✓ Selection of Chiefs - “Obaa na owoo ohene” (It is the woman who gives birth to a chief)
 - ✓ Advise Chiefs
 - ✓ Arbitrate Conflicts Among Women
 - ✓ Women and Children Health and Education

Health

HIV /AIDS

prevention strategies

Care of Orphans

Sexual and reproductive

- Puberty rites
- Family Planning

Education

Set up schools

Fundraising for schools

Women and Children's Social Welfare

Adjudicate cases e.g. child delinquency, family disputes

Founded organization for poverty reduction and capacity-building

Liaise with social workers to solve community problems

Caregiving to Orphans e.g. Family Net System Strategy

DISCUSSION

Discussion

Evidence of Queen Mothers or Counterparts in 9 West, East, and Southern African countries.

Evidence of Queen Mother position from pre-colonial period to today.

Currently the Chieftaincy (which includes Queen Mothers) is codified in some countries' constitutions and laws.

Queen Mothers are responsible for women and children, particularly for health and education.

Discussion

Queen Mothers position incorporates Ostrom's Design Principles including:

- Defined Boundaries
- Adaptation to Local Conditions
- Institutions for Collective Choice
- Behavior/Outcomes Monitoring
- Arena for Conflict Resolution
- Right to Local Self-Governance

Nested Institutions (i.e. Council of Chiefs)

Conclusion

Evidence of Queen Mother throughout Sub-Saharan Africa

Multiple countries have a legal basis under current law for Queen Mothers & governments actively reviving role

Legitimacy and recognition of Queen Mother by the communities

Several active programs

- Health i.e. HIV
- Education e.g. school building

Conclusion

New types of Queen Mother such as Development Mothers

Convenor and liaison with international NGOs

Need for formal recognition of Queen Mothers

Roles of Queen Mothers exceed resources (Opportunities)
